VACANT LOCAL OFFICES.

The Successors to Messrs, Edmonds and Douglass Not Yet Named-It is probable that the vacancy caused by the expiration of Commissioner Edmuods's term will be filled within a few days. The President has not been able to decide upon the new commissioner, owing to the press of other business, but he has paid the subof other business, but he has paid the sub-lect some attention, and knows fairly well the relative merits of the candidates, and will name as a successor to Commissioner Edmunds a man who is familiar with the management of the District affairs. There are quite a number of gentlemen urged for the position, though it is a singular fact that there are but few applications at the white house.

The President is in no hurry to appoint a successor to Recorder of Deeda Douglass, and is said to have told an applicant that as yet he had not decided upon a suitable man. Mr. Douglass said to a Rureunt-can reporter, when questioned about the matter, that he knew nothing about the President's Intentions. His resignation had been handed in, but further than that he knew nothing.

"PRIVATE SECRETARIES."

Senator Riddleberger Makes Serious Allegations Regarding Abuses of Senate Privileges.

Early in yesterday's session of the Son ate, Mr. Riddleberger offered a resolution, which was agreed to, requiring each senator to report to the Senate the name of his private secretary. In introducing the resolution, Mr. Riddleberger said that some men were holding tickets of admission to the Senate Mr. Riddleberger said that some men were holding tickets of admission to the Senate floor who would not be admitted to the parlors of gentlemen if they were known as Mr. Riddleberger knew them. Such tickets were issued to people who receive no pay except admission to the Senate floor to blackmail gentlemen—to libet them in their newspapers. Mr. Riddleberger said he knew of a case in point. We knew what had been said in the House of Representatives about Eads being on the floor of that House. He asked if it were permissible for him (Mr. Riddleberger) to state that, while Eads had not been on the floor of the Senate, he had had three henchmen there—two representing Republican newspapers and one a Democratic newspaper—who came to secure information on which to libel senators. Imagine a man having a ticket to the Senate floor in the pretended capacity of private secretary to a senator, which senator had his own son as his private secretary, who drew the pay, while the other—the creature—was compensated by the ticket.

After the adoption of the resolution Mr. Hoar had it reconsidered and so amended as to have the names sent in to the secretary of the Senate.

DESERTED FOR PLEASURE.

Oliver C. Black's Story of His Wife's Departure From Their Home. Oliver C. Black and Harriet B. Tasker were mited in wedlock on Feb. 27, 1878, in this city, by Rev. Dr. Thompson, paster of St. Paul's A. M. E. Church, and lived together until Nov. 16, 1883. On that morning the husband left the house, 1301 H street, as usual, to attend to his daily work, leaving his wife in charge. When he returned home in the evening, to his great surprise, he not only found that Mrs. Black had left the premises, but that she had been so considerate of her own future comfort as to take all the furniture with her. Three days transpired and Mr. Black ascertained her whereabouts and then he made her a visit. In answer to his inqury for her reasons for acting in the way that she had, and her cause for leaving him, she promptly and coolly informed him that she was a young woman, tired of confining herself to household duties and was after pleasure. It was her privilege to leave, and she insisted upon being permitted to enjoy that privilege, and positively declined to return and resume marital relations with her husband. Mr. Black made a second effort to induce her to change her determination, but with no better result than on the first interview. Since that time there has been no communication between them, and the desertion having existed for over two years, the husbandfin December last applied for divorce, which Justice Cox granted yesterday.

A List of the Appeals From His Land Office Decisions, and What Was Done

A Word to Workers. A Word to Workers.

If your accations are mentally or physically laborious, if they subject you to exposure in inclement weather, if they confine you to the deak, and are of a nature to involve wear and tear of brain, and nervous strain, you may occasionally require some renovating tonic. Hostetter's Stomach Bluers is the article for you, it stimulates the failing energies, invigorates the body, and cheers the mind. It emables the system to throw off the debilicating effects of undue fatigue, gives renewed vigor to the organs of digestion, arouses the liver when inactive, which it very often is with people whose pursuits are sedentary, renews the juded appetite, and encourages healthful repose. Its lagredlents are safe, and its credentials, which consist in the hearty indorsoment of persons of every chass of society, are most convincing. Admirably is it adapted to the medical wants of workers.

The Burnt Bridge Boom. The Burnt Bridge Boom.

Porsuant to a call a number of residents of Capitol Hill and others interested in the rebuilding of the old burnt bridge across the Eastern branch, at the terminus of Ponnsylvania avenue, met last night at McCauley's Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue, Capitol Hill. Dr. S. A. H. McKim was called to preside, and Dr. W. Lee White as secretary. The president stated the object of the meeting to be for the purpose of thoroughly organizing and arranging a plan of action, so as to present the subject at an early day before the commissioners of the District, and then to urge upon Congresse in importance of passing the bill now under consideration as early as possible.

On motion of H. P. Waggaman a committee of seven was appointed to wait upon Congress, as follows: Dr. S. A. H. McKim, Lycurgus Dalton, Dr. John W. Bayne, Samuel Cross, Gon. D. S. Walker, Col. S. T. Bult, and George T. Jones. Hall, 209 Pennsylvania avenue, Capitol Hill,

After a free interchange of opinions it was determined to meet again next. Monday night at the same place, whon it is expected that the committee appointed last night will report their plan of action, and when they will be able to wait upon the commissioners and atterward upon the proper committees of Congress. It was stated during the meeting that the increase in the value of property adjacent to the bridge would so add to the revenues of the city that it would pay for the bridge in a very short time.

Raising Dust Leads to a Raid. "Say, mister, they're raising dust in Miss sie's house," said a small boy, who spied Officers Breen and Bailey standing on a corper Officers Freen and Balley standing on a corper yesterday afternoon.

The small boy's statement was fully verified. The officers found Josephine Butler and her colored girls in battle array against each other in her house on D street hear Thirteenth. Josephine was arrested and was charged with keeping a bawdy house. The affair grew out of jealously of the girls over male friends. Penalties for Seduction. THE MARKETS.

A Quiet Day in Wall Street-An Advance in Coal Stock. NEW YORK, March 3.-The advance yeste

New York. March 2.—The advance yesterday effermou and this morning, especially in the enal stocks, was due partly to a rush by the bears to cover short contrasts and in part to buying for higher prices, but since 11 o'clock in day the market has been inclined to be heavy, although the reaction has been for only fractional amounts as a rule. The differences between the Heading syndicate and Mr. Gowen are generally understood to be practically settled, and the only memacing feature to the market at present is the insettled condition of transcontinental business, and also a rumor, which takes on many shapes from day to day, that the Western Culon dividend will be reduced at the heat quarierly meeting. In the last hour the market was somewhat more quiet, the principal dealings being confined to the coal stocks, which were feverish, but late in the hour prices became firm, and the market closed gutet and firm at figures which were neither the highest nor lowest of the day.

Moncy on call continues cay at 2 to 3 per cent, but spurted up to 4 per cent, closing weak, however, the last loan being at 2 per cent. Sterling exchange continues steady but firm. Actual rates, 45% for sixty-day bills and 45% for sixty-day bills and 40% for demand. Fosted rates, 48% for sixty-day bills and 40% for demand. Government bonds are dull and steady. State bonds continue dull and heavy.
